

VICTORY™

"VICTORY" that's the game everyone is talking about! The colors are amazing! Everything is so sharp and clear. It's so real. Let's see... the screen is like I'm looking out a window... with a full world view at the bottom of the screen. And FIRE, SHIELD, SPEED, ALT must be my indicators. I want to try this game out! Let's see, here's a coin.

"THANK YOU"

Wikes! The game even talks!

"PLEASE PRESS ONE PLAYER START BUTTON!"

"Yes sir! Player One start button pressed, sir!" Who is this guy anyway? Must be Mission Control or something.

"GET READY PLAYER ONE, GO WORK!"

"Thank you, Control, over and out. Woah! This steering is great! I can go any direction with this precise Trodi-wheel™ and any speed with this thrust button. I just gotta watch out for those... OOPS!... enemy ships... They got me! Okay, new turn I'll try again. I'll get those guys this time! Ane! Bingol Got ane! Hey! That spaceship just bombed my city! I'll use this Doomsday device on all these approaching enemies... Zapped all of 'em in sight! Alright! This game is great! I'm really in control of my own spaceship!"

OPERATOR SELECTABLE OPTIONS —

VICTORY™'s options are no longer controlled by a hardware DIP switch. Eady's revolutionary game presents all options on the "screen menu" allowing the operator to design and tune the game to meet his needs. Options include:

•Virtually limitless coin options, including special bonus credit options, for example, 1 credit — 1 coin, 5 credits — 3 coins.

•Vanity Table either preset to give players goals to compete against, or optionally clear, permitting players to compete among themselves.

•Game Play Options (the operator can specify any amount):

- First bonus score threshold
- Number added to create second and thereafter bonus score thresholds
- Amount of following at game start: Turns, doomsdays, shields, fuel
- Which and how much is given for first bonus: Turns, doomsdays, shields, fuel
- The maximum turns and doomsdays permitted at one time
- Points awarded for saving city, for first level and successive levels
